Describe the habits and soft skills you want to develop by way of reading relevant book/s.

I want to know what are soft skills and develop them in life to improve my career and personal. In the book "Soft skills: skills not taught in schools" written by Dr.B.V.Pattabhi Ram, I can learn body language, communicate and connect, decision making, emotional intelligence, problem solving, leadership, team building, time management .. etc. Soft skills are very important to make a person to achieve their goals. These skills make life easy, make others respect us, and give value to us.

I feel like I lack in some skills and don't know some skills, so by reading this book I can gain them and apply in real-life problems. I want others to give me value, respect, and think about me in the good sense. By learning these soft skills, I can be successful in my career and life. I want to live a life where all give value to me, respect, love, and care about me.

These skills can make me motivate, inspire, how to respect others and their feeling, understand them, and maybe give them a good solution or advice them. These soft skills can make me to stand out of the crowd and make me a unique person. When I know these skills, I can be fearless and be confidence about my words, work, decisions. I can learn patience. I can have a new habit of reading books. I can improve my pronunciation of words, writing skills, reading skills, and presentation skills.

The book have contain all types of soft skills which are explained in the form of a story and described it and explained how to use it in real life. Through this book, I can learn soft skills, understand them, and implement them in my life. I can feel confident, and fearless while talking to others or presenting myself.
